

mambroz@ipcglobalsolutions.com

Martin's customer first approach drives continuous improvement throughout the organization

Martin Ambroz

Product Team Manager

Martin Ambroz is a product development expert, avid soccer player, and skilled DIY enthusiast. As the Product Team Manager at IPC Global Solutions, Martin is responsible for new product research, product quality and continuous improvement. Martin's customer first approach drives continuous improvement throughout the organization. He began his career at IPC Global Solutions as a Sales & Marketing Assistant and has grown with the company having served in numerous, product, supply base and marketing roles. Now a key member of the team for more than 14 years, Martin attributes his success to a combination of product knowledge, technical ability and an affable personality.

Martin holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in French from Merrimack College where he was a Division 2 soccer player. He lives in Bridgewater, Massachusetts with his wife, Leianne, and daughter. During his time away from work, Martin enjoys hockey, tennis, soccer, CrossFit, hiking, supporting his wife's pet grooming business and home improvement projects.

