

mabowden@ipcglobalsolutions.com

Mike has leveraged his aptituded for creative entrepreneurship to develop progressive solutions in the areas of process improvement, business development, team building and brand development

Michael A. Bowden

EVP, Chief Development Officer

As Chief Development Officer, Mike works with automotive and commercial vehicle service organizations to solve problems and grow business. With more than 14 years at IPC Global Solutions, Mike believes that it is resourceful innovation and a team of dedicated, hard-working individuals that have driven the company's success.

Mike began his career as an Order Picker in 2003, and held various roles throughout the organization over the 10 years that followed including leading product development initiatives across a global supply base and establishing a distribution facility in St. Louis, MO. Mike's role has evolved to include leadership of the sales and marketing team and now business development.

Mike's aptitude for creative entrepreneurship became evident at the early age of 12 when he started his first business as a local party DJ and later, a recording engineer. In recent years, Mike has leveraged his creativity to develop progressive solutions in the areas of process improvement, business development, team building and brand development.

Mike holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Mass Communications from Emerson College with continuing coursework in accounting and business law at Bridgewater State University and Stonehill College.

Mike lives with his wife, Ashley, and their three children in Milton, Massachusetts, the birthplace of George H.W. Bush and one of Money Magazine's 2007, 2009 and 2011 top 10 places to live. Above all, Mike values time with his family including sharing meals, listening to music, remodeling their home and coaching his son's hockey team.